Discussion Questions

1. What lens do we, as New Covenant Christian believers in Jesus Christ, use when reading and applying Prophetical Books like Micah?
2. How does Isaiah 2:1-5 compare with Micah 4:1-8? Is there an echo of it in the New Testament?
3. These words probably have a dual fulfillment. Micah envisions a future day when Jerusalem will be restored in right worship of God. But the greater, and more distant, fulfillment will come through the One born in Bethlehem (Micah 5:2). For what does this passage prepare us, when we read it in a Christ-centered way?
4. What confidence do you take from these verses?
